From Editors' Desk...

National Integration, patriotism, unity in diversity... are they mere words? Have these words lost their essence after 66 years of independence? The patriotic fervour speeding in the veins of the freedom fighters resulted in the integration of the India that comprised of 569 princely states. The desire to break the shackles and soar high in a free sky was burning in every Indian heart and soul; it was not thrust upon; seeds of love and respect were entrenched deep.

It is immensely overwhelming that a meagre 'roti' could ignite fire and integrate thousands of Indians and a mutiny could be initiated. Love and respect for our fellow countrymen, the quintessence of Nationalism, seem to have gone astray. Linguistic dispute, communalism, regionalism are the mites consuming us. Love, the epitome of Patriotism cannot be heaved; it cannot survive in the midst of tribulations like selfishness, greediness, corruption and infinite desire to have swelling pockets.

We need to unfetter ourselves from our selfish motives and desires. The role of media and politicians is of paramount importance. Media can play a positive role by channelizing the minds of the youth. Politicians can be exemplary. The role of the common man can never be undermined. Their determination to deter the wrongs and to live in togetherness is the most effective weapon that can integrate the people and subsequently the country.

We are bound together by history, culture, attitude and a sense of belonging. We are Indians, an archetype of "Unity in Diversity", a garden with a variety of flowers - a colourful mosaic.

From the desk of organizing secretary...

Dr. Ranjana Das

I take it as an honour to bring out this souvenir, on the occasion of the National seminar, being organized by the Department of History, Guru Nanak College on 29th March 2014 on "Issues and challenges of the National Integration since Independence"

National integration is a comprehensive and debated issue. The concept of this seminar has been to throw light on the deep rooted sources of the separatist and disruptive elements like Racism, Communalism, Regionalism, Corruption, Unscientific approach of Governance and narrow selfish interest of the political leaders, as also to suggest such corrective measures which would bring about sanity in the country.

No wonder, the topic of seminar, one would agree, is more relevant today than ever before. On the one hand, one would love to recount the sacrifices and struggle of our leaders of the freedom movement- who were not just men of unimpeachable integrity but also visionaries with secular and democratic ideas and ideals engrained in them and who emphasized in no uncertain terms India's unity in all its diversities: but one would also wish to highlight the meaning and significance of national integration vis-à-vis latest sectoral and parochial politics obtaining in our country. I hope this seminar will be enriching and interesting. The seminar will envision those who attend with a glimpse of our glorious past as well. It has been rightly said "History is the best teacher". It will help us realize our current footing as also to find modern tools to overcome the present divisive scenario.

I would like to express my gratitude to our principal for his encouragement. It is his constant support and guidance that has enabled us to organize this. We have been very fortunate in receiving full co-operation from our management, all the teachers and office staff of the college, who helped shape the seminar and souvenir. I am confident that all the, faculty will put in their best to make this seminar a grand success too I also extend my warm wishes to all the delegates. May all the themes and issues related to the seminar be useful in reaching some meaningful solution.

From the Principal...

P. Shekhar

We keep wondering what the aspirations of the people of India are after more than six decades of independence. Perhaps one would wish to draw a list: people want more capital, more energy, more education, more opportunity, transparent and corruption free governance and above everything else, decisive and honest leadership. Similarly one wonders what the main obstacle could be on way to fulfilling the aspirations of the people.

Perhaps one cannot deny easily that the main obstacles to our well-being are the issues of national integration. The challenges that are faced in resolving the issue of national integration are surely not unsurmountable . But the act will require an honest political will. The geographical integration of our country was almost completed, some problems apart which I am sure will figure prominently in the deliberations of the Seminar, immediately after independence thanks to the honest and sincere efforts of the galaxy of political leaders who won us freedom from the British. But that was only the beginning. The real task of consolidating the freedom was left to the youth of the country who had to acquire leadership qualities in good measure to be equal to the task. In 1948, Pt. Nehru, while making his convocation address before the graduates of Delhi University emphatically said that the task of nation-building consolidating the freedom, lay with the educated youth, who would have to rise to the occasion and take the torch from the seniors whose objective was already achieved.

Today as the situation obtains, ours is a society which stands fragmented which has been divided and sub-divided, and further divided by not just geographical boundaries but also by the arbiters of our destiny-our political leadership.

In our uninhibited pursuit of selfishness, nay, self-aggrandisement, the society has been torn apart. There is so much of hatred, so much of disharmony and discord, so much of doublespeak, so much of two-facedness that trust and faith have become natural victims. People occupying high offices have lost their credibility.

They have become such ruthless and selfish practitioners of Machiavellian politics! They divide us for being in power. And what is worse all this has started from the top, so it has taken little time in reaching the lower rung of the society.

The pertinent question is how to do the repair how to spread and practise "Universal Brotherhood" in our society. What would be the roadmap for practising and establishing humanism in the society? A mechanism, which cannot be simplistic.

In our bid to attain physical comforts, riches, gold, power we stop at nothing. But in the process, we lose our balance of mind and soul. Our hearts become so mechanical that we end up being "unfeeling thinkers" totally deprived of a soul within.

I firmly believe that only people with feelings, soul can repair the society. Only spiritually inclined individuals can combine material success with humanity, and social accountability. They can become the carriers of Universal Brotherhood they can be the ambassadors of peace, love and harmony- the practitioners of humanism.

I refer to Sri. NaniPalkhiwala's book "India's Cultural Heritage", where in the first chapter itself "The summit of civilization" he has cited an anecdote. Sri.Palkhiwala once met the celebrated Psychiatrist Carl S. Jung in London. He bluntly asked as to what kind of patients he usually received in his clinic. Jung answered that he had never come across any patient in his clinic, during more than fifty years of practice, who had faith in God. Now, this is the power of spiritualism. It provides an inbuilt mechanism of inner reconciliation, which is absolutely necessary for the emotional well-being of an individual. Very successful people having wealth, fame, beauty and power, have also been miserable in life. The only reason for that being that they did not combine their success with spiritual well being. As a result, the soul suffered; and these people became incapable of spreading the message of humanism or Universal Brotherhood.

In fact the malady lies in the fact that we have drifted away from our cultural heritage, our spiritual and emotional moorings-our saints and Gurus. We need to enrich our spiritual quotient; we need to go back to the teachings of the Gurus for spreading Universal Brotherhood among all people. That alone can repair the damage.

Guru Nanak Devji has beautifully summed up his teachings in one of his hymns:

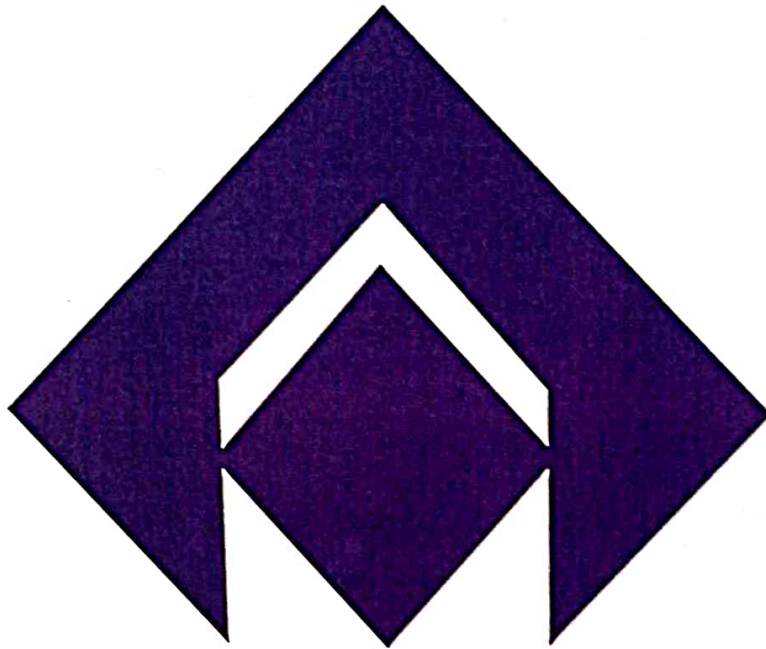

“Love the saints of every faith:
Put away thy pride.
Remember the essence of religion
Is meekness and sympathy,
Not fine clothes,
Not the Yogi's garb and ashes,
Not the blowing of the horns,
Not the shaven head,
Not long prayers,
Not recitations and torturing,
Not the ascetic way,
But a life of goodness and purity,
Amid the world's temptations,”

The hymn and the message quoted above, I suppose, are the proper tools for establishing “Universal Brotherhood” in our society. This, I am convinced, is the sumtotal of love, peace and harmony, and the roadmap for practising humanism, and consolidating national integration.

As the head of the institution I warmly welcome all the delegates, who have responded so positively and have agreed to be part of this Seminar. I am grateful to Dr. Y. D. Prasad, former Director, A.N. Sinha Institute, Patna and a reputed scholar of History for having agreed to present the key-note address of the Seminar. I express my gratitude to Sri I.C. Kumar, I.A.S. (Retd) and Dr. B. B. Kumar for having given their consent to be our guests of honour in the Seminar. And finally I express my thanks for Dr. Amalendu Sinha, Director, CIMFR for being the Chief Guest during the inaugural ceremony.

Courtesy demands that I should record my thanks for the college family the members of the college management, the teachers and the staff without whose support any show of this kind would not be possible.
