5thSeptember, 2021

Time: 11:00 AM to 12:30 PM

On the occasion of Teachers' Day, a webinar on a very relevant topic in today's context was organised by IQAC of Guru Nanak College, Dhanbad. The resource person of the webinar was Prof Dr. Ramesh Sharan, Formal Vice Chancellor Vinoba Bhave University Hazaribagh and Former Head, Department Of Economics and Dean, Social Sciences, Ranchi University.

The programme started with the call to bring the house in order. Dr Sanjay Prasad Principal Guru Nanak College, Dhanbad delivered the welcome speech and offered a warm welcome to everyone present in the webinar. He also gave a brief introduction of the key speaker of the day. The key speaker was Prof Dr. Ramesh Sharan, an expert of the subject and a research oriented personality, an educationalist. Dr. Sharan has been a Visiting Faculty Member, IIM, Ranchi for several years and has made weighty contributions to research and teaching in varied areas such as Tribal Issues, Social Security, livelihoods, poverty, employment, labour markets and related issues.

In context of higher education, he has a close collaboration with various research and development institutes and bodies not only across the country but even with some world organisation. He has been the author of many books and has publications in several journals too. He is closely associated with so many organisations including ICSSR.

Presently he is Director of the “Institute for Human Development, Eastern Regional Centre, Ranchi”.

After the welcome address, the key speaker Prof Dr. Ramesh Sharan talked about the NEP and higher education. In his address, he elaborated on the objective of education in Indian context, to stress the importance of knowledge creation. He talked about first National Education Policy (NEP) and said that education policy started in 1968, after 18 years again the second education policy got revised in 1992. Twenty five years later to that we are taking about drafting a new education policy.

Describing about the changes that have been witnessed and that India as a country needs to focus on, he said

New Education Policy 2020 has emerged as the game changer in the education sector. However, with a revolution, NEP has also brought a lot of curiosity as to how India will emerge as the global leader in education sector.”

He believed that citizens have to be educated open-mindedly for the economy to flourish. He thinks that school is the weakest aspect of our education system where schools should be fun and not intimidating. He said that the wisdom which exists in several languages is beautiful and should be learned enjoyable. He said that the education system should work efficiently towards the credit point of the students. He believes trending learning is an important aspect for the students. He said that principles have to be changed for a change in our country which New Education Policy 2020 will transfer India into a knowledge power.

After his talk, Sardar R. S. Chahal, President Guru Nanak College, Dhanbad placed his sights on the topic and said that Growth without improvement in education cannot facilitate development.

Further Dr. Ranjana Das, Co-ordinator IQAC proposed her formal vote of thanks.

Prof P. Shekhar former principal of the college also joined the programme.

The webinar was attended by around 65 scholars and teachers and stood a very successful one in current scenario. Some of the members of Governing body of the college, members of Gurudwara Prabandhak Committee, students and teachers from university also actively participated the webinar and benefitted.

The overall session discussion benefitted the faculties, research scholars and Students
