The College has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Shodh-Chakra, a flagship initiative of the Information and Library Network (INFLIBNET) Centre, functioning under the guidance of the University Grants Commission (UGC). This collaboration aims to strengthen the research ecosystem of the institution by providing structured digital support to faculty members, research scholars, and students throughout the entire research life cycle.

Shodh-Chakra is a comprehensive research workflow management platform designed to assist researchers at various stages of their academic journey, from the identification of research problems to the final submission of theses and publication of research outputs. The platform offers a centralized digital workspace that enables users to collect, store, organize, and manage research materials efficiently. It also facilitates accurate citation management, thereby promoting academic integrity and adherence to scholarly standards. Additionally, Shodh-Chakra allows researchers to create and maintain personalized profiles, manage research preferences, and track their academic progress in a systematic manner.

Recognizing the importance of capacity building for the effective adoption of this platform, the College identified the need for structured training for faculty members and designated nodal officers. In this context, a comprehensive training and awareness session was organized by the Shodh-Chakra team. The objective of the session was to familiarize participants with the features, functionalities, and best practices associated with the use of the Shodh-Chakra platform in academic and research activities.

During the training session, the resource persons from Shodh-Chakra provided detailed demonstrations of the platform's various modules. They elaborated on the specific roles and responsibilities of faculty members and nodal officers in facilitating and monitoring research activities through the system. The session also highlighted the diverse range of digital resources available on Shodh-Chakra, including tools for research documentation, reference management, collaboration, and workflow tracking. Emphasis was placed on how these resources could be effectively utilized to enhance research productivity, ensure transparency, and improve overall research quality.

The interactive nature of the session allowed participants to seek clarifications and gain hands-on experience with the platform. Faculty members and nodal officers actively engaged with the resource persons, which helped in addressing practical challenges and understanding real-time applications of the system. The training program proved to be highly beneficial in building confidence among participants and equipping them with the necessary skills to guide researchers in the effective use of Shodh-Chakra.

Overall, the training session was fruitful and successfully achieved its intended objectives. It significantly enhanced participants' understanding of digital research management practices and reinforced the institution's commitment to promoting a robust and technology-driven research culture. The MoU with Shodh-Chakra, complemented by systematic training initiatives, is expected to play a pivotal role in improving research efficiency, fostering academic excellence, and supporting the long-term research goals of the College.
